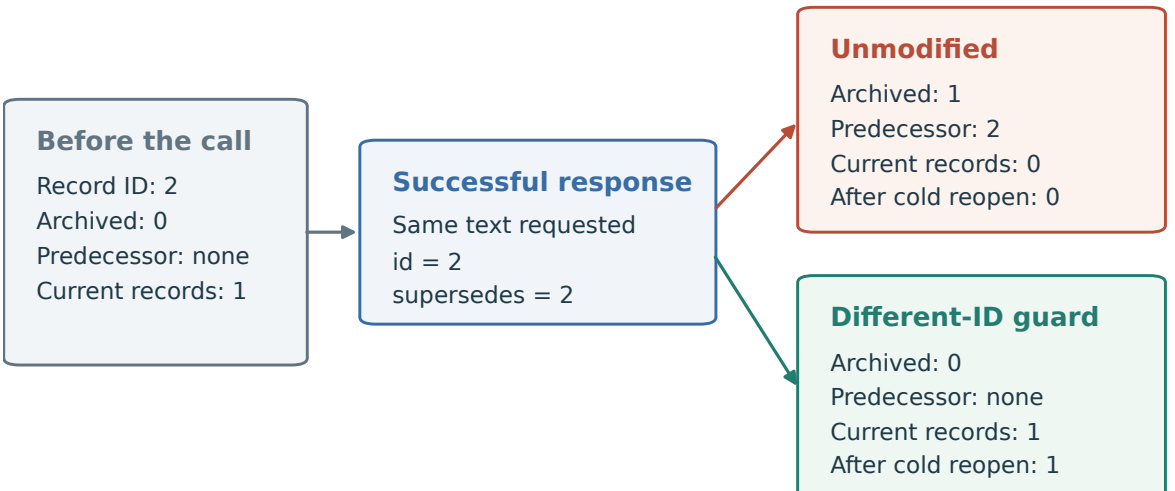
Same response, different stored states

Representative same-value captures | original source and different-ID guard



Solid arrows show call order in separate fresh stores; branch identity is inspected in source.
Existing cells shown again; no extra executions or complete repair validation.